

Closing

Annette Kuhn

President of the House of Women's History, Bonn, Germany

The time is running away, inspired of our "Spiral of Time". I must say this has been a wonderful experience with all of you and just my closing remarks are thanking all of you. Thanking all the participants coming from far away and being so close to us, thanking you for participating in this way that we feel we understand you as being completely different and we love you as being so close to us in a very deep and common sense. And saying thank you also says I do have to stress this conference would not have been possible without Heidemarie and her team. I also say thanks to the German team. I must say without Marianne - I will stress it very much - but at the same so saying without Monika we would not have made it. This huge amount of work would not have been possible. We have here in Germany our House of Women's History made up with many women, Uta, Barbara and all the friends here in Bonn and it is just wonderful for me to be able to say thanks now all friends like Uta who is here and friends that have come again, have about habit of saying they are students knowing now they be mothers and knowing that I am the learning part and I love to learn from all of you. Thanks for coming and I do hope we will see each other again.
